Mr. Keel has extensive experience as a courtroom litigator and he is a frequent lecturer in continuing legal education courses on the subjects of criminal law and ethics. Mr. Keel is a fifth generation Austinite, born in Austin on January 13, 1958 and raised in a family of six boys and one girl. He is married to Jeanne Compeau Keel and they have twin sons, Travis and Sean and a daughter, Caitlin. Mr. Keel is a Life Member of the Texas Ex-Students' Association, a member of Saint Austin's Catholic Church and is active in many other civic and charitable causes.

Public Service:

Executive Director, Texas Facilities Commission, December 31, 2009 to present.

The Commission, appointed by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House, selected Mr. Keel to lead the state agency charged with responsibility for planning, providing and managing all aspects of facilities supporting the needs for over 55,000 state employees in Austin and in over 290 cities in Texas. The agency's duties include space planning; assigning office space to departments of state government; facilities master planning; real estate acquisition; architecture, engineering, design, construction & project management; lease procurement; facilities maintenance & operations; and state & federal surplus property administration.

Parliamentarian, Texas House of Representatives, May 25, 2007 to January 13, 2009. Mr. Keel served as the counselor to the Speaker and Texas House members on matters of legislative procedure and applicable provisions of the Texas Constitution and state statutes.

State Representative, District 47, Austin, January 14, 1997 to January 9, 2007. Mr. Keel served five terms as a member of the Texas House of Representatives, representing the Austin area. He was selected by the House Speaker to be Chairman of the House Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence (78th and 79th sessions), Chairman of the House Select Interim Committee on Sex Offender Statutes (78th session), and Chairman of the Select Committee on Election Contests (79th session). Rep. Keel also served as Vice Chair of the Committee on Public Safety (76th and 77th sessions), a member of the General Investigating and Ethics Committee (76th, 77th, 78th, 79th sessions), the Judiciary Committee (79th session) and House Administration Committee (79th session). Rep. Keel authored numerous legislative measures, including major public safety and criminal justice enactments. Mr. Keel also served for several years as a lecturer on the subjects of criminal law and criminal profiling at the Austin Police Department Training Academy. In May 1999 Representative Keel was named an honorary member of the Austin Police Association in recognition for his work as a legislator and his prior service as Travis County Sheriff and Assistant District Attorney.

Sheriff, Travis County, November 17, 1992 to January 1, 1997. Terry Keel served as the county's chief law enforcement officer, supervising a staff of over 1,200 corrections and law enforcement personnel. Sheriff Keel successfully managed inmate populations exceeding 2,500 during the worst jail over-crowding era in Travis County history and established a program for housing jail prisoners in tents. He implemented numerous innovative initiatives, including: the construction of corrections facilities using inmate labor; the expansion of inmate agriculture, labor and education programs; the establishment of a professional victim services program with a crime-scene response; and the formation of joint law enforcement operations between the Travis County Sheriff's Office and the Austin Police Department in the areas of narcotics, criminal intelligence and training. Sheriff Keel received many distinguished law enforcement and civic awards during his tenure, including the Law Enforcement Commendation Medal from the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Assistant District Attorney, Travis County, July 23, 1984 to November 17, 1992. Mr. Keel served as lead prosecutor in over fifty contested felony jury trials and held the position of Chief Prosecutor over several units, including: Major Crimes, Narcotics, Organized Crime, District Court, Child Abuse and Juvenile Prosecution. From 1987 to 1991 Mr. Keel also was assigned to Austin Police Department headquarters to establish and supervise the District Attorney's Office & Austin Police Department Repeat Offender Program. This joint program, which targeted career criminals for apprehension and prosecution, was one of the first of its kind in the United States, consisting of specially trained prosecutors and police officers. As Chief of the Repeat Offender Program Unit, Keel participated in the arrest of over 200 felony career criminals and the service of more than 100 search warrants. In addition, he was designated as the lead prosecutor in numerous capital murder, homicide, sexual assault and attempted capital murder cases, including the first courtroom case in Texas using PCR DNA. During his service as Assistant District Attorney, Keel received numerous honors and awards, including three certificates of appreciation from the Chief of the Austin Police Department (1986, 1991, 1992), awards from the Austin Police Association for the prosecution of career criminals (1986), for homicide prosecution (1989), and capital murder prosecution (1992), and award recognitions from the A.P.D. Sex Crimes Detail (1985), Hispanic Police Officers Association (1988) and Hispanic Crimes Unit (1988).

Assistant District Attorney, Brazos County, April 1, 1983 to July 23, 1984. Mr. Keel was selected by the Brazos County District Attorney to begin working as an Assistant D. A. prior to graduation from law school under the State Bar program authorizing third-year law students to practice law under attorney supervision. Upon graduation and licensure he continued with the office and his assignments during his service with Brazos County included two capital cases.
